

CLAIMS:

1. A sun visor for a vehicle having a unit which is supported on a bracket characterised in that a second unit is provided which is associated with the first unit and is moveable in relation thereto to form an extension below and/or to one side thereof.
- 5 2. The visor as claimed in claim 1 characterised in that the bracket is swiveable between the windscreen and side window positions.
3. The visor as claimed in claim 1 or 2 characterised in that the second unit hooks on to the first and is slidable away therefrom to chosen distance to fill the gap between the end of the first unit and the centre of the windscreen when the unit is adjacent the 10 windscreen; or to the gap between the end of the first unit and the door frame when the unit is adjacent the window.
4. The visor according to any of the above claims characterised in that a third unit is slidable on the second unit.
5. The visor according to any of the above claims characterised in that the second
15 unit includes base which has hooks engageable in slots on the first unit and has a frame carrying a screen that is slidable with respect to the base or hinged thereto to be movable downwardly or to the side.
6. The visor according to claim 5 characterised in that the base includes channels for sliding movement of the screen.

7. The visor according to claim 5 or 6 characterised in that the screen is made from a tinted transparent medium.